

Tuks the place to be today

Global Sports Brand Puma and lifestyle sports events specialists Stillwater Sports, together with sponsor Spur Steak Ranches, are gearing up for the final leg of the 2018 Puma School of Speed Athletics Series at Bestmed Tuks Athletics Stadium in Pretoria today.

The youth talent identification series has been a sure hit with school kids between the ages of 14 and 19 with well-attended meets already run in Potchefstroom, Johannesburg, Durban and Paarl.

With Puma Premium spikes going to the overall top three athletes in attendance next weekend and the chance to sign with the Puma

Athletics programme, it will be Pretoria's chance to step up to the starting blocks.

Gates open at 11am with finals taking place at 5.30pm for an entrance fee of R20 a ticket.

Look out for promoters giving away free Puma School of Speed goodies. An action-packed day is promised with a resident DJ, who will energise supporters in between races.

Athletes will be treated to Spur Steak Ranches' "Tenderising Zone", a specialised massage area.

Before call-up, each athlete will pass through the vice-principle's office where they can meet SA's second-fastest man over 100m, Thando Roto. Participants are encouraged to share in the excitement at the Puma School of Speed photo frame, or be inspired by checking out the Puma School of Speed Hall of Fame, as well as their results.
