

When the Bafana Bafana squad for the friendly internationals against Guinea-Bissau and Angola were announced in March, Cape Town City coach Eric

Tinkler was quick to congratulate club captain Lebo Manyama and goalkeeper Shu-Aib Walters on their call-ups.

But he admitted his surprise that left wing Aubrey Ngoma was missing.

'I think Aubrey deserves his opportunity; he has been fantastic for us this season and has been consistent,' said Tinkler. 'He's unlucky not to be in the squad.'

City have drawn plenty of plaudits for their attacking verve and while most of those have gone to Manyama, he would be the first to admit that Ngoma has played a massive role in his success.

The pint-sized wing is trying to resurrect his career in Cape Town and his goals and assists this season have thrown him back in the limelight.

Aubrey Ngoma has shone in the Mother City after his failed move to Orlando Pirates. By Nick Said

Unsung Hero

