

Bartlett's ultimatum

► Shaun Bartlett's days as University of Pretoria coach are numbered, if what Phakaaathi sources have said is anything to go by. A source has claimed that Bartlett (above) has been given an ultimatum to win his next game or face the chop. Tuks have had a shaky start to their National First Division campaign with a home draw against Mthatha Bucks in the first match, which was followed by a 5-0 drubbing by Jomo Cosmos at the weekend. "The management are not happy. They believed he was the man to help the team get a quick return to the Absa Premiership but he does not seem capable now," said the source. Bartlett had previously helped Golden Arrows win promotion four years ago.
