

Talented Masuthu wins bronze medal

The saying "Jack of all trades master of none" is certainly not relevant to Thabelo Masuthu from TuksRowing. It seems that he will succeed in anything once he has put his mind to it. At the recent Junior World Rowing Championships in Trakai, Lithuania he won a bronze medal in the single sculls. In doing so, he made South African sports history becoming the first black rower to medal at the championships. Masuthu is also a talented musician who likes to "DJ" at venues.
