Unseen

Unseen explores the hidden discrimination and othering students with physical disabilities face on campus.

UPeople

UPeople exposes nuanced forms of racial discrimination, focusing on situations of language exclusion, prejudice, stereotyping, and culturalism.

Nothing Happened

Nothing Happened explores sexual harassment in all its different and more subtle forms. We follow the story of Rose and Adrian and see how warning signs are marked as "normal" by society.

Blame

Blame explores gender-based violence within our society. It emphasises that gender-based violence is not only prominent in heteronormative relationships, but also in familial relationships and transgender communities.

Gastronomies

Gastronomies explores interpersonal and broader social relations related to waste and excess. Food and consumption become tools of power and class delineation, and the act of consumption the site for defining unjust relations between people.

Around the Corner

Around the Corner looks at often disregarded forms of gender-based violence, and how matters can escalate if not stopped.
