Project description:

(Please stipulate the problem statement or opportunity for improvement; and the project scope)

Industry mentorship:

The student would be performing text analysis on some qualitative data fields from the data set. Such student would be performing extensive text coding and analysis of interaction and visual presentation of such textual data relationships. The main texts to analyse would be the experience of students in their vacation work place so that meaningful insights may be derived. The preferred student would need to have either mastered or be willing to master the use of an appropriate package like Atlas Ti, possibly with visualisation capability of R.
