Help

Apply Changes will have an immediate effect, and this paper's similarity score will change in this view, but not on the Assignment Inbox/ lecturer view. If Quotes are excluded: both block quotes and those in double quotation marks are affected. Bibliography / References excluded: All text following this heading excluded from similarity flagging. Turnitin currently does NOT exclude footnotes if they are used as references.

Note that the Download button allows one to download the document with/without feedback and similarities. The documents are often too large to email or print.

Some assignments created by lecturers do not display your report till after the due date, and in some you will not be able to resubmit. Resubmissions: The report for a paper resubmitted in the same assignment link, can take up to 24 hrs to become available.

Tips on writing a good assignment:

- Use high quality, verified, scholarly resources found in the Library's databases (if unfamiliar with using those, talk to the information specialists on how to create web-searches for your topic).
- Keep track of where information comes from: use a reference organiser like Endnote (on your own computer) It helps you use a reference style consistently and saves a lot of time. See the UPLibrary web for free licence and links to download and install the programme.
<http://www.library.up.ac.za/referencing/index.htm>.
- Always try to write information in your own words, as you would explain it to someone else, while still citing the original author whose idea you refer to.
- When quoting someone's own words use double quotation marks and give a full citation (including page numbers). Familiarise yourself with the details of the prescribed reference style.
- Avoid using unscholarly web-pages such as social networking, blogs, Wikipedia etc as resources.
- Find more tips on avoiding plagiarism on the Library Plagiarism webpage:
<http://www.library.up.ac.za/plagiarism/index.htm>
- Revise, revise, revise...

Note that your lecturers cannot view your papers in the Research organisation, and will not provide feedback there. Make sure that you submit papers to the correct clickUP modules as instructed by your lecturer / supervisor for marking and feedback. Instructions on viewing feedback can be found in the Turnitin factsheet for students that is available on the Library Plagiarism web page (<http://www.library.up.ac.za/plagiarism/index.htm>).

Tips for academic writing (when using Turnitin)

Goal: Strive for an overall similarity score of less than 10% when small matches, References, front matter and addenda are excluded.

Strategy: Do not include generic documents like plagiarism declarations or lengthy descriptions of standardised methods in your dissertation. Make optimal use of quotations, diagrams, a Glossary and Abbreviations that are included in the front matter along with tables of content, lists of figures etc. Standard procedures or tables that are not authored by yourself, should be numbered and housed in Addenda. For the rest, practice writing and summarising in your own words.

Front matter: Plagiarism declarations, language editing certificates, acknowledgments, table of contents, lists of tables of figures etc., Glossary, Abbreviations and Acronyms (as used) and the Abstract(s) should be placed in the Front Matter of the dissertation, pages numbered with small roman numerals, and need not be submitted to Turnitin. Make optimal use of the Glossary and Abbreviations, providing the generic definitions and explanations of terms that are used many times. These explanations need not be repeated every time in your text, and increase the readability of the text. The full name of an abbreviation or acronym is given in the text only the first time it is mentioned.

Addenda / Appendices: Standard methods could be provided as numbered Addenda, as should data gathering instruments like questionnaires. The materials and methods chapter might display the highest similarity score of all chapters, and does not necessarily constitute plagiarism. Addenda need not be submitted through Turnitin as part of the final Turnitin submission.

Quotes: Turnitin can be configured to exclude quotations. Short quotes should be enclosed in double quotation marks, followed by a reference and page number. Single quotation marks are used for quotes within quotes, and to denote unpublished spoken words, without citations. If you quote a published speech, use double quotation marks and a citation. The text of long quotations (length determined by the reference style, typically more than 30 words (APA) or 3 lines of text (Harvard), should be formatted as blocked, indented text and followed by a citation and page number. Do not quote more than one paragraph in a block quote, or in quotation marks. If your citation style prescribes using single quotation marks, Turnitin will not exclude those quotes, and the similarity score should be interpreted accordingly.

References: Text preceded by an unnumbered heading named References, Bibliography or Resources will be excluded from the similarity index, if this exclusion has been selected in the Turnitin assignment settings. This is not a chapter!

Footnotes and Endnotes: If you place references in the footnotes and not in a reference list at the end of the document, note that Turnitin will not exclude them from the similarity score. If this is the preferred or prescribed citation format in your field, adjust the acceptable similarity score accordingly. The UP recommended 10% similarity goal might not be feasible. Documents discussing laws and legislation will also have higher similarity scores, and have to be evaluated accordingly.
