PUBLIC SEMINAR

MANAGEMENT OF TECHNOLOGY: Past, Present & Future

You are invited to attend a Public Seminar, hosted by the Department of Engineering and Technology Management, Graduate School of Technology Management.

Management of Technology and Innovation is a growing field of study, research and application. For many workers in this relatively new field of knowledge, it is important to understand its beginnings, the motivations and the imperatives that made many people in the US first and later all over the world, to pursue it as an independent entity. The factors that led to this are ingrained in historical events that will be briefly summarized. The presentation will also show the evolution of technologies that changed the world and have been accelerated at the turn of the century. It asserts that their proper management can indeed make a difference in assuring survival, competitiveness, sustainability, economic growth and prosperity.
