

Hot & Not

Reigning Under-18 world 100m champion Tshenolo Lemao has earned a full scholarship to study at Florida State University in the US next year. The 18-year-old, who is the only South African to win the 100m in any age division, signed a four-year deal with the institution, where he will join its athletics team. Lemao is writing matric exams at TuksSport High School in Pretoria.

When you are out of the country, you are on your own. International Relations Minister Lindiwe Sisulu defended what the SA National Editors' Forum called "the high-handed actions of the Tanzanian government" against journalist Angela Quintal and a colleague, who were manhandled, detained and interrogated there for five hours.

