How to choose between a Bachelor of Arts specialising in Law, Bachelor of Commerce specialising in Law or straightforward four-year Bachelor of Laws degree?

As explained here, there are three direct routes to a recognised legal qualification and eventual admission as an attorney or advocate in South Africa with a Bachelor of Laws degree behind your name, given the status quo in South Africa in 2019 and excluding forthcoming amendments to the Legal Practice Act, 28 of 2014:

If you are interested in a career in patent law, you should first pursue a science degree (Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Engineering) degree, and/or followed by an honours degree in Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Engineering, followed by a Bachelor of Laws degree, or vice versa. Here you are looking at a minimum period of seven years of studying. However, this will prepare you for the Patent Examination Board, as required in Section 21 of the Patents Act, 57 of 1978, as amended, for a career as a patent attorney. However, it is important to note that admission as a patent advocate or attorney is subject to passing the Bar Examination for pupils or the Competency-based Examination for Admission as an Attorney too. Should you be interested in this field of law, you may find more relevant information on the websites of patent attorneys, the South African Institute of Intellectual Property Law (SAIIPL) and the World Intellectual Property Organisation (WIPO).

Hereafter, should you qualify, you could consider pursuing a master's degree in law (optional).

Master's programmes are presented as follows:

- Coursework: evening classes, examinations and a mini-research dissertation; or
- Correspondence: comprehensive master's dissertation.

The duration of a master's degree at UP is minimum one year.
