

Make today matter

The Faculty of Theology and Religion is renowned for its commitment to the following:

Christian scriptures

This remains our central point of reference for theology.

Spirituality

We place great importance on personal faith formation.

Practical skills for training in ministry

Learn to preach, serve and lead.

Contextual and relevant teaching and learning

Some classes take place on city streets.

Academic excellence

Our standards of education are comparable to the best in the world.

Lecturers

Lecturers are noted academics and also respected church leaders.

Student life

Theology students have access to the many benefits of life on campus and in Hatfield.

International contacts

Students can benefit from our broad network of international partnerships.

People study Theology and Religion for various reasons, and not only to make it their profession. Some find it to be a fascinating field that they would like to explore, whereas others search for spiritual growth through study, or may want to gain insights that will help them to function more effectively in the workplace. The Faculty also offers programmes that will benefit students who do not necessarily want to become ministers, but would like to enrich their lives and faith experiences.

There are many advantages to enriching one's study in a particular field with insights and applications from Theology and Religion. By including modules from this discipline in other areas of study, such as computer science, engineering, languages, psychology, social work and teaching, graduates will enter their chosen careers as better equipped and more fully developed individuals.

'Relevance. That is the word I have always cherished in my journey with the Faculty of Theology and Religion. When applying for tertiary education, there was a lot of confusion about life and a struggle to balance academics with all my personal challenges, but those challenges did not disturb my studies because of how relevant I found the work to be for me personally. It is always said that you are alone at the university, but I had a change of mind after journeying with this faculty. It made me feel like I was with family, and family will never leave you. Theology and Religion addresses all the problems that we are facing in the world, so if you have questions about life like I did, this is the place for you.'
