FINE ARTS (BA FINE ARTS EXTENDED PROGRAMME)

Fine Arts by its unique nature enriches our lives, culture and society. Fine art is a means through which people can express their subjective experiences, and allows for a space where multi-cultural and subjective identities can be presented and discussed. In its visual and multisensorial form, art communicates in ways that are tacit and felt, and can enact socio-political-environmental critique, and change, through its means of communication. Art engages the imagination and provides a platform for creative individuals to bring their ideas to the public's attention.

COURSE INFORMATION

The BA Fine Arts Extended Programme (FA) is a five-year degree (extended curriculum programme) and consists of the existing number of regular courses for the standard four-year degree in addition to four foundational courses in the first year of study. It covers a broad spectrum of professional art practices. The first year of the programme offers foundational support in drawing, academic and quantitative literacy, art history and art theory as well as a variety of art practices which are critical and unique skills aimed at aligning our students with the needs of the broader professional artworld.

The foundational year is split into four modules.

- Foundation in Fine Arts (subject code BKK 001)
- Visual History and Visual Literacy (subject code ATH 001)
- Foundation in Imaging and Visualisation (DRW 001)
- Foundation in Visual Principles (subject code VIP 001)

The aim of BKK 001 is to equip students to become skilled professional artists and art practitioners. This four-year subject offers opportunities for students to hone their artistic expression related to ideas, formal aspects, materials and techniques through the processes of conceptualisation, observation, visualisation, materialisation, documentation, representation and presentation of artworks. The subject offers opportunities for developing skills in a range of 2D, 3D and digital mediums and processes as practised in various studio modalities, including graphic printmaking, painting, sculpture, drawing, photography and digital laboratories. Students are guided in finding synthesis between ideas, materials, process and theory through an artistic research approach.

ATH 001 is the visual history and visual literacy module which is intended to broaden student's horizons by exposing them to the history of different art movements throughout the world but also the important role that art has played in South Africa's very own history. The students will also be equipped with the tools and skills needed to explore the conceptual underpinnings and relevance of those movements in a way that allows for deep critical engagement while simultaneously developing their writing abilities. This module intends to enable students to cope more confidently and competently with the reading and understanding of a variety of art related texts and to apply these skills in a variety of contexts that encourage their development and adoption of the conventions of academic writing.

The DRW 001 module is geared towards improving student's drawing abilities by teaching them the fundamentals of drawing through a wide range of practical exercises and projects. By breaking down drawing into its most basic elements students have the ability to explore these elements and gain a deeper understanding of them before merging and intergrating them towards the creation of a well rounded drawing practice. They will improve their observation skills, knowledge of light theory, grasp of different drawing elements and mediums as well as develop a robust drawing portfolio made up of various types of drawing. The drawings will range from still life (a composition of various objects with different characteristics) to human anatomy in the form of live model drawing and even plant studies, just to name a few.

VIP 001 is the Foundation in Visual Principles module which focuses on improving the analytical abilities of students. It is a module that carefully balances practical and theory exercises to help students understand and also apply the elements and principles of visual arts through a variety of mediums. Students will be introduced to different modes of analysis but will primarily focus on visual discourse analysis which will be applied to 2D, 3D and even new media art. There will also be exposure to important terminology that will be useful across various art professions as well as academic contextualisation through the different types of writing and oral presentations that are expected of the student.

PROMOTION TO NEXT YEAR OF STUDY
