1. FOREWORD

Dear Gr 12 Learner

I do hope that this study guide is useful to help you prepare for your final examination. I tried to include relevant examples and exercises which could really assist you to understand what is expected of you.

You are on the threshold of starting a new life. Each of you will start a life full of new beginnings and expectations, but also a new life with many responsibilities.

- ★ You are the future of South Africa
- ★ In ten years' time you are the breadwinners of our nation

The demand for a skilled workforce in South Africa is extremely high.

The National Skills Development Strategy (NSDS) 2005 – 2010 envisages halving poverty, reducing skills shortages and unemployment by 2014. You are part of this strategy as you are the ones who have to equip yourselves with the necessary skills in order to become part of an active, skilled workforce creating work for yourself through the skills you have learnt.

All of you have to work together to improve the quality and relevance of scarce skills by prioritising what you plan and how you prepare yourself for the future. South Africa needs responsible hardworking citizens who really care about the future of our country and not only about themselves and their needs.

As skills development is crucial to the growth and prosperity of South Africa and to ensure that infrastructure and resource needs are met, skills programmes offered by FET Colleges is of utmost importance.

You dare not waste time!

Good luck with your preparations!

Compiled by: Mrs Bets de Lang

2. ADVERTORIAL

Be College Wise

Since January 2007, FET Colleges nationwide are offering a modern and focused curriculum that is aligned with the skills needs of industry and the country.

The National Certificate (Vocational) NC(V), is a high standard, skills-focused qualification. Unemployed youths and ambitious young people with a Grade 9 pass or higher can now make a career choice from the National Certificate (Vocational) programmes that are offered at FET Colleges, and gain admission into an FET College closer to their residential area.

All NC(V) programmes are year programmes starting with Level 2. Each Level is however an exit Level and students obtain an NQF certificate for each of Level 2/3/4.

The NC(V) programmes are divided as follows:

BUSINESS RELATED:

Management
Marketing
Office Administration
Finance, Economics and Accounting

UTILITY RELATED

Tourism
Hospitality
Safety in Society
Education and Development
Primary Agriculture

ENGINEERING RELATED

Mechatronics
Information Technology and Computer Science
Electrical Infrastructure Construction
Civil Engineering and Building Construction
Engineering and Related Design – Fabrication; Fitting and Turning, Automotive Repair and Maintenance

FET Colleges have been identified as primary training providers to assist government in alleviating the skills shortages and to increase the pool of skilled people.

FET Colleges boast with well-equipped facilities such as workshops for practical training of the Engineering related programmes. Simulation rooms offer valuable experience to the Business related programmes where the departments such as Finance, Marketing, Management and Tourism may benefit as students, through simulation and case studies, are taught practical business skills - meeting procedures, boardroom etiquette, reception skills etc. Market days where marketing students get practical experience to buy and sell their products have proven to be an invaluable tool for gaining an understanding of real business. Training restaurants and industrial kitchens play a vital role in the practical training of the Hospitality students.

These NC(V) programmes all consist of three (3) Fundamental subjects: Life Orientation (with Life Skills and Computer Literacy), Language, Mathematics (Engineering) or Mathematical Literacy (Business related) as well as four (4) Vocational subjects related to a specific programme.

The dedicated Student Support Services at all Colleges offer specialised guidance in aspects such as HIV/AIDS, careers, personal counselling as well as study methods.

In line with the initiatives laid down by government the fifty FET Colleges in South Africa are indeed contributing to vocational education to ensure that people with technical skills will be available for the job market by training people that are skilled enough to meet the challenges of the modern economy.

The Secrets of Success...

By Bernard Levine

*You are the architect of your life
Create your own opportunities and make things happen
Set yourself a specific goal
And monitor your progress
Be of service*

*Keep doing things for others
Without counting the cost
Turn your defeats into victories
Control your environment
Mix with the kind of people
Who inspire you*

*Keep your attitude positive
And your health in fine trim
Let God go before you in everything you do
Pray regularly with feeling*

*Always be planning something constantly
You are the magnet of your circumstances*

3.1 Comprehension

A comprehension becomes easy if you know what to do. The big secret is to read the whole passage and then read it again. By doing so you will understand what the theme is about.

3.1.1 Types of questions:

- Multiple choice questions

These questions usually include four to five options. It is extremely important to read each option carefully and decide which one is “really” right.

- Open-ended questions

These questions require that you give your own view.

- Questions that start with: Who?/What?/When?/Where?/Why?/How?
- Questions like these test your knowledge of the passage.
- True/False questions
Read the section in the passage that has to do with the question and then decide if the whole sentence is true.
- Words that restrict or open up general statements
Words like "sometimes, often, etc. usually indicate that the answer may be true.
- Title? Sometimes the examiner instructs you to give a suitable title for the passage.

Where do I start with a comprehension?

- Read the whole passage
- Read the passage again
- Scan you questions
- Read the passage again (make notes /highlight what you remember)
- Answer the questions

EXERCISE 1

Read through the following passage and answer the following questions:

Survive the Great Outdoors

By Julie Mercer

Over the last year, "Great Outdoors: has run a number of hiking articles in a special "How to ..." series, and if you've been following the advice you should have no problem when you hit the trail. But even if you are prepared, things can still go wrong and we wrap up the series by looking at how to survive should you encounter an emergency.

There are a few basic things to remember if you are faced with a crisis, and one of them is to stop and review your situation thoroughly. Look at the weather, terrain, available resources and time of day and only then plan a course of action. Above all, stay calm!

Getting Lost

If you are out of a recognised trail then help should not be too far away, as the wardens usually monitor exactly how many people are using the trail at any given time. If you have strayed off the path, try retracing your steps and make sure you have not overlooked a change in trail direction. Signal for help audibly and visibly – either blow three minutes on your whistle or flash a mirror three times in the sun. Dense smoke produced by placing green leaves or grass in a fire, will generally be seen from lookout towers but don't start a veld fire! Repeat your distress signal at regular intervals. Air searches can be assisted by placing a large, bright object such as a space blanket in a conspicuous place.

Air, water, shelter and food are the four basic essentials for survival. A person can live for three weeks or more without food, three days without water, three hours without protection in hostile weather and three to five minutes without air.

Water

If you are lost without sufficient water, conserve body fluids as much as you can by moving only in the cool of the day, talking as little as possible and keeping your mouth closed. Study the immediate terrain and search for clues to water sources. Look out for such things as dense reeds or large movements of animals in a certain direction as they usually indicate a water source. If you dig beneath the surface of dry river beds, at the base of big rocks where there is dense vegetation or the base of large sand dunes, you might find some water. Ore dumps and tailings indicate the water might be nearby in old mine shafts or pits.

If you are lost on a trail then resorting to these methods is not usually necessary.

Shelter

When building a shelter, avoid expending excessive energy. A cave or natural depression is far superior to a complicated wooden structure. Your shelter must minimise body heat loss and maximise body protection from the elements. Choose an area protected from the wind and avoid camping too close to rivers.

If you are stranded in timbered country, construct a simple lean-to from wood and vegetation. Ideally, it should be a three sided structure and offer maximum protection from prevailing night winds and cold. Use sticks and stones as supports and cover them with grass and leaves. You can construct heat reflectors at the back of a fire from logs, rocks, boulders, or a space blanket to allow the heat to radiate into the shelter.

Food

A person can survive for a number of weeks without food and in an emergency; food is your least important worry. Unless it's absolutely necessary don't waste energy searching for edible plants and animals. But it's wise to bear the following points in mind should you need them.

1. No grasses are poisonous and the soft stem, swollen roots and seeds are edible.
2. Anything monkeys and baboons eat can be eaten by humans.
3. Insects such as locust, flying ants, dragonflies, hairless caterpillars, beetles and grubs can be eaten if cooked.
4. Honey can be obtained by smoking out a beehive.
5. Most fish are edible.
6. All fresh bird's eggs are edible.
7. Avoid the following: fruits with smooth yellow or green skins and thorns on leaves or stems, dark purple fruits from plants with milky juice but no thorns, and fruits from carpet like, low growing plants. If the first taste of the central pulp is bitter, don't eat it! Spit out the seeds and keep away from mushrooms unless you are absolutely sure of their edibility.

The wilderness is a major hazard and the only way to counter that is never to enter wilderness areas. If we want to do so, we must accept an element of risk, the degree of which is largely dependent on ourselves.

Choose the correct answer from the options given below. Write ONLY the number of the question and letter of the option you have chosen.

3.1.1 To signal for help audibly is to

- A shoot a flair up into the air
- B shout out loudly for help
- C drop small pebbles along the trail
- D flash a mirror in the sun

3.1.2 “Natural depression” in context means a

- A footpath in the wood
- B sad mood of hopelessness
- C horizontal plane
- D hollow in the ground (2)

Indicate whether the following statements are TRUE or FALSE. QUOTE to prove your answer

3.1.3 Water might be found where there are many trees and shrubs (2)

3.1.4 When building a shelter one shouldn't use too much energy (2)

3.1.5 Fruits from plants with milky juice, but no thorns should be avoided. (2)

3.1.6 Say in your OWN words how you can get your shelter warm inside. (2)

Complete the following sentence:

3.1.7 The four elements in medieval philosophy are 3.1.7.1, water, air and 3.1.7.2. (2)

Give a word from the passage with the same meaning as the underlined word.

3.1.8 Grasshoppers can be eaten. (2)

[16]

3.2 Summary

Where do I start with a summary?

Same as in a comprehension:

- Read the whole passage
- Read the passage again
- Highlight /underline the main ideas
- Start with your summary

The instruction normally looks like this:

- List SEVEN point in full sentences using no more than 45 or 50 or even 70 words
- Number your sentences from 1 to 7

When you have finished, count the words and write it in brackets underneath.

EXERCISE 2

Do the following summary:

Always remember to read the actual instruction!

Read the Comprehension passage: Survive the great outdoors (Page 5). In no more than 45 words write a summary in point form describing what to do, and look for, to prevent dying from thirst should you get lost in a country where no-one has ever set foot. Please read instructions on the CONTENTS page carefully. SUMMARY/ PRÈCIS

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Your summary must be in point form.
- Number your sentences from 1 to 7.
- Write down only ONE fact per line.
- Use full sentences.
- Use your own words as far as possible.
- Indicate the number of words you have used in brackets at the end of your summary.

You will be penalised for exceeding the maximum number of words or failing to indicate the number of words used.

[10]

3.3 Language

As it is impossible to cover every aspect of language which you did during your twelve years of school, we are going to concentrate on what is asked mostly in examinations.

3.3.1 Visual Literacy

Analysing a cartoon

Analysing an advertisement

Remember the following when analysing a cartoon:

Propaganda – information which is false or emphasise just one part of a situation

Prejudice – an unreasonable dislike in people who are different from you

Bias – unfair attitudes choices, decisions or opinions when dealing with certain people

Ambiguity – can be understood in more than one way

Pun – word play: an amusing use of word or a phrase that can have two meanings

You are given a cartoon strip and you have to answer specific questions on what you SEE & READ. Ask yourself a few questions:

- What kinds of people are in the frame/picture?
 - How old are they?
 - What gender, class and race are they?
 - How do you know this? Consider clues like clothes, hair, expression, posture and position.
 - Are they large or small in the picture's 'frame'?
 - Is the camera pointing up or down at them? Why?

- b) What objects are featured, and why?
- c) Where is it set? How do you know? What is in the background?

EXERCISE 3 – Visual Literacy

Analyse the following cartoon:

Read the following cartoon and answer the set questions.

Study the pictures:
what is said, their body language etc.

- 3.1 How do you know that two girls in the cartoon are still scholars and in the same school? (2)
- 3.2 Refer to frame 2.
- (a) Do you think Patience has a friendly or hostile attitude towards Joyce's response? (1)
- (b) Give a reason for your answer. (1)

- 3.3 Refer to frame 4.
There is a change in the colour of the surrounding. Name the obvious suggestion as well as the deeper meaning. (2)
- 3.4 Tebogo says that he has “some nice stuff” in his room.
In your OWN words say what is this “stuff” that he is referring to? (1)
- 3.5 Refer to frame 5. Tebogo and Patience are in Tebogo’s room.
What may be suggested with Patience’s body language and her clothing? (1)
- 3.6 Refer to frame 7
What does the “positive” sign suggest? (1)
- 3.7 Refer to frames 3 and 7
The phrase “Are you positive, Patience?” has two different suggestive meanings in this cartoon. Name them (2)

[10]

3.3.2 Active/ passive voice

For a person to be able to turn a sentence describing an active motion into a passive voice sentence, the sentence has to consist of the following: Subject + Verb + Object
E.g. John eats an apple

Study the following examples to see how a passive sentence is formed:

Present Indefinite tense - Thabo writes a letter

A letter is written by Thabo

Past indefinite tense - Thabo wrote a letter

A letter was written by Thabo

Future indefinite tense - Thabo will write a letter

A letter will be written by Thabo

Present Continuous tense - Thabo is writing a letter

A letter is being written by Thabo

Past Continuous tense – Thabo was writing a letter

A letter was being written by Thabo

Present perfect tense - Thabo has written a letter

A letter has been written by Thabo

Past perfect tense - Thabo had written a letter

A letter had been written by Thabo

Look at singular/ plural
subject/ objects

Don't
Forget!

EXERCISE 4 – Passive Voice

Do the following: Start with the underlined words and change the following active voice sentences into passives.

- Marnus reads a book every Saturday.
- We are playing the music now.

- c. Dihan saw the accident last week.
 d. We shall sing the songs tonight.
 e. Elliné drives a car today.
 f. The children ate the apples last night.
 g. Mother was listening to the children yesterday at 15:00.
 h. Jan is digging a hole at this moment.
 i. Mary has found her purse.
 j. We had learnt our words for the song long ago.

[10]

3.3.3 Punctuation

Punctuation is extremely important when writing. Know where to use capital letters, a comma, a question mark, an exclamation mark, a full stop and inverted commas:

CAPITAL LETTERS: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ★ When you begin a new sentence: We always enjoy reading. ★ When writing the names of people: John, Kgomoitso and Tebogo. ★ When you use I: I love reading books and I love singing. ★ When writing days of the week, months of the year and special days: Monday, June and New Years Eve. ★ Titles of people, books, songs, plays, films, poetry and newspapers: The Sun, Time Magazine, Mrs Modise and To Kill a Mockingbird. ★ When writing the names of rivers, cities, town, townships etc: Johannesburg, Vaal river and Soweto 	THE COMMA: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ★ Less important parts of a sentence separated from the main idea: Neo attended church, in the morning, and he visited his grandmother. ★ Separates descriptive adjectives before a noun: He is an attractive, clever and smart young boy. ★ Before and after using conjunctions such as nevertheless: I failed English, nevertheless, I shall not give up and I shall pass at the end of the year ★ When writing a list of items: I must buy apples, potatoes, tomatoes and some juice. ★ After the name of the person whom you addressed: Lerato, come to my office immediately.
THE QUESTION MARK: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ★ At the end of a question sentence when a answer is expected: What did you do with the pen? ★ Questions where no answer is expected or required (rhetorical questions): Am I going to pass Gr 12? NEVER use more than one question mark. DO NOT write: Where are you going????	THE EXCLAMATION MARK: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ★ Used to express emotions such as: anger, surprise, disappointment, pain etc: I am so mad at you! ★ When words are being shouted: There is ghost behind you! ★ Used at the end of command sentences: Sit down and keep quiet immediately! ★ Indicative of a quarrel taking place: I told you I never want too see you again! ALWAYS use just one exclamation mark! DO NOT write: Keep quiet!!!
THE FULL STOP: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ★ At the end of sentences: Monare was very disappointed with his English mark. ★ Not used after abbreviations of metric measurements: m - metre l - litre 	INVERTED COMMAS: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ★ Used to indicate direct speech: "I went to the movies yesterday" said Tshupo. ★ Firstly, place a colon then the inverted commas and then write out your sentence. Place your punctuation mark and close the inverted commas. Lebo said: "I love your new hairstyle!"

EXERCISE 5 – Punctuation

Punctuate the following paragraph:

- 5.1 study hard, said the teacher and we did.
- 5.2 in last weeks the sunday times, one of my favourite newspapers, I enjoyed reading andersons article how not to loose your mind.
- 5.3 Yes thabo said Ill be home by ten.
- 5.4 lebo said we have to study till dawn.

3.3.4 Dictionary work

The computer is one of the most indispensable tools which touch almost every aspect of our daily lives. It can store, retrieve and you can write, edit, change and manipulate text. You can do spell check and almost write faultless letters. And still many people send out letters which are full of mistakes! The reason? You must know your vocabulary. Not only how to spell words but also how to use it.

A dictionary can be a wonderful source of information – from spelling to pronunciation, singular, plural, meaning, ambiguity etc.

If you take time to study a dictionary and read the explanation on how to use it in the index, a wonderful world of lexicology would open up to you.

- 6.1 What is the meaning of the word consent when it is used as a verb? (1)
- 6.2 What does the information in brackets after conservationist tell you? (1)
- 6.3 The word consent is listed more than twice. State a reason for this.
- 6.4 You will see that the word adverb is constantly written as adv and the word adjective is written as adj. We call these abbreviations.
- 6.4.1 What is an abbreviation? (1)
- 6.4.2 Write down at least three other abbreviations from the text and then give their meanings. (6)
- 6.5 After each headword's phonetic pronunciation has been given in brackets there are words such as: noun, adj., verb and adv. written in italics. What is the function of these words? (2)
- 6.6 Use two of the entries provided in full sentences to prove that you understand their meaning. (4)

3.3.5 Singular/plural

These words are plural, so they take a plural verb:

- ★ My trousers are too long, (not 'is too long')
- a) You can also use a pair of + these words:
- ★ Those are nice jeans, or That's a nice pair of jeans, (not 'a nice jeans')
- ★ I need some new glasses, or I need a new pair of glasses.
- b) Some nouns end in -ics but are not usually plural. For example:
athletics/ gymnastics/ mathematics (or maths)/ physics/ electronics/ economics/ politics
- ★ Gymnastics is my favourite sport.
- ★ News is not plural.
- ★ What time is the news on television? (not 'are the news')

Study these examples

Don't
Forget!

- c) Some singular nouns are often used with a plural verb. For example:
government/ staff/ team/ family/ audience/ committee/ company/ firm
 These nouns are all groups of people. We often think of them as a number of people (= 'they'), not as one thing (= 'it'). So we often use a plural verb:
The government (= they) want to increase taxes.
 ★ The staff at the school (= they) are not happy with their new working conditions.
 In the same way, we often use a plural verb after the name of a sports team or a company:
 ★ South Africa are playing India next week (in a cricket game).
 ★ Shell have increased the price of petrol.
 A singular verb (The government wants... (one government)/ Shell has... (one company) etc.) is also possible.
 We always use a plural verb with police:
 ★ The police have arrested a friend of mine, (not 'The police has')
 Note that a person in the police is 'a policeman / a policewoman / a police officer' (not 'a police').
- d) We do not often use the plural of person ('persons'). We normally use people (a plural word):
 ★ He's a nice person, but They are nice people.
 ★ Many people don't have enough to eat. (not 'doesn't have')
- e) We think of a sum of money, a period of time, a distance etc. as one thing. So we use a singular verb:
 ★ Twenty thousand Rand (= it) was stolen in the robbery, (not 'were stolen')
 ★ Three years (=it) is a long time to be without a job. (not 'Three years are...')
 ★ Six miles is a long way to walk every day

EXERCISE 12 – Editing and spelling

Do the following:
Correct the following spelling and language mistakes:

A Your incredible body

We tend to take our bodies for granted – until they pack up, that is. When won takes a look at the complexity of the nervous system, the digestive system, the muscular system, one can not but marvel at how intricate everything is. And how well it works so much of the time?

But our bodies do deserve care too function at their utmost. They need regular sleep, a balanced diet, not too much alcohol, lots of exercise, and time to de-stress. If you think that sounds basic, think of how many of these things you haven't done in the last 24 hours. Bodies are patient things and they can take quite a lot. But there comes a point where it's too much, and when the body fights back, you will definitely know all about it. (Taken from Health24.com Daily tip) [10]

B Nine (9) things you should worry about

We worry about lots of unnecessary things. Each person has their own favourite worry list. So what are the things that are really worth worrying about and doing something about.

Your pension provisions: Most South Africans do not have enough money on which to retire.

Your children and drugs: Don't ever assume that your kids won't go down this road. Be vigilant.

Your home security: This is the one place in which you should feel safe.

Life insurance: If you have dependants, you really do need this.

Your health: Good health is the one thing money can't buy.

Your spending habits: Constant slight overspending can get you into huge trouble.

Medical insurance: Even if it is just a hospital plan, you need to get won.

Your marriage: All marriages – even good ones – need to be worked on.

Your job security: Never assume you'll have the same job for decades. Those days are over. (Taken from Health24.com Daily tip) [10]

3.3.11 Apostrophe

The apostrophe is used to indicate:

Possession - It is Mary's book

Oh captain, my captain

Bafana Bafana captain Aaron Mokoena shares his excitement for this year's much-anticipated FIFA World Cup in his home country

How did your soccer career start? My mother is a fantastic influence on my life and she always encouraged and supported me in whatever I was engaged in. I am the youngest of seven children and my focus was to do well in school and study hard because education has always been very close to my heart. But it was not all about studying... I have always had a passion for sport and spent many hours after school and weekends playing not just soccer, but many other sports. I even considered playing professional basketball but realised I needed to be taller for that. I was spotted as a young soccer player and was signed for Jomo Cosmos. This was a real breakthrough for my career.

(Adapted from Garden and Home January 2010)

[10]

3.3.17 Concord

Whatever you write, look at the CONCORD. This means agreement in number and tense.

E.g. Dihan [✓]does his homework every afternoon NOT Dihan ^Xdo his homework.

Lebo [✓]likes school NOT Lebo ^Xlike school.

The children [✓]were here yesterday NOT The children ^Xwas here yesterday.

3.3.18 Adverbs

What is an Adverb?

An adverb is a word that tells us more about a verb. It "qualifies" or "modifies" a verb (The boy ran quickly).

In the following examples, the adverb is in bold and the verb that it modifies is in italics.

Kobus speaks loudly. (How does Kobus speak?)

Marnus works locally. (Where does Marnus work?)

Forming Adverbs

We make many adverbs by adding -ly to an adjective, for example:

quick (adjective) > quickly (adverb)

careful (adjective) > carefully (adverb)

beautiful (adjective) > beautifully (adverb)

There are some basic rules about spelling for -ly adverbs. See the table below:

Adjective ending	do this	adjective	adverb
most adjectives	add -ly	quick nice sole careful	quickly nicely solely carefully
-able or -ible	change -e to -y	regrettable horrible	regrettably horribly
-y	change -y to -ily	happy	happily
-ic	change -ic to -ically	economic	economically

But not all words that end in -ly are adverbs.

The words friendly, lovely, lonely and neighbourly, for example, are all adjectives.

And some adverbs have no particular form. Look at these examples:

well, fast, very, never, always, often, still

Note that the form of an adverb can also change to make it comparative or superlative.

Kinds of Adverbs

Adverbs of Manner

Adverbs of Manner tell us the manner or way in which something happens. They answer the question "How?" Adverbs of Manner mainly modify verbs.

He speaks slowly. (How does he speak?)

They helped us cheerfully. (How did they help us?)

James Bond drives his cars fast. (How does James Bond drive his cars?)

We normally use Adverbs of Manner with dynamic (action) verbs:

He ran fast. She came quickly. They worked happily.

Adverbs of Place

Adverbs of Place tell us the place where something happens. They answer the question "Where?" Adverbs of Place mainly modify verbs.

Please sit here. (Where should I sit?)

They looked everywhere. (Where did they look?)
 Two cars were parked outside. (Where were two cars parked?)

Adverbs of Time/Frequency

Adverbs of Time tell us something about the time that something happens. Adverbs of Time mainly modify verbs.

They can answer the question "When?":
 He came yesterday. (When did he come?)
 I want it now. (When do I want it?)

Or they can answer the question "How often?"
 They deliver the newspaper daily. (How often do they deliver the newspaper?)
 We sometimes watch a movie. (How often do we watch a movie?)

Adverbs of Degree

Adverbs of Degree tell us the degree or extent to which something happens. They answer the question "how much?" or "to what degree?" Adverbs of Degree can modify verbs, adjectives and other adverbs.

- She entirely agrees with him. (How much does she agree with him?)
- Mary is very beautiful. (To what degree is Mary beautiful? How beautiful is Mary?)

Adverb Position

When an adverb modifies a verb, there are usually 3 possible positions within the sentence or clause:

1. FRONT - before subject		Now	I will read a book.
2. MID - between subject + verb	I	often	read books.
3. END - after verb/object	I read books	carefully .

EXERCISE 19 – Adverbs

6. The painter is awful. He paints
7. Thabo is a wonderful piano player. He plays the piano
8. This girl is very quiet. She often sneaks out of the house
9. She is a graceful dancer. She dances really
10. This exercise is simple. You have to put one word in each space

3.3.19 Adjectives

What Is An Adjective?

The simplest definition of an adjective is that it is a word that describes or clarifies a noun. Adjectives describe nouns by giving some information about an object's size, shape, age, colour, origin or material. They also clarify which thing (noun) the speaker means by giving information as well as the speaker's opinion or observations about it and its purpose. They can also be used as comparatives or superlatives.

- It's a big table. (size)
- It's a round table. (shape)
- It's an old table. (age)
- It's a brown table. (colour)
- It's an English table. (origin)
- It's a wooden table. (material)
- It's a lovely table. (opinion)
- It's a broken table. (observation)
- It's a coffee table. (purpose)

What Do Adjectives Look Like?

English can be very tricky, so you have to be careful. Many English adjectives end with these suffixes:

- -able/-ible – adorable, invisible, responsible, uncomfortable
- -al – educational, gradual, illegal, nocturnal, viral
- -an – Cuban, Mexican, urban
- -ar – cellular, popular, spectacular, vulgar
- -ent – intelligent, potent, silent, violent
- -ful – harmful, powerful, tasteful, thoughtful
- -ic/-ical – athletic, energetic, magical, scientific
- -ine – bovine, canine, equine, feminine, masculine
- -ile – agile, docile, fertile, virile
- -ive – informative, native, talkative
- -less – careless, endless, homeless, timeless
- -ous – cautious, dangerous, enormous, malodorous
- -some – awesome, handsome, lonesome, wholesome

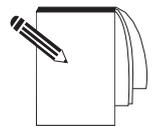

EXERCISE 20 – Adjectives

Do the following:

Fill in the correct form of the words in brackets (comparative or superlative).

1. My house is (big) than yours.

2. This flower is (beautiful) than that one.

EXERCISE 12 – EDITING AND SPELLING

A Your incredible body

We tend to take our bodies for granted – until they pack up, that is. When one takes a look at the complexity of the nervous system, the digestive system, the muscular system, one cannot but marvel at how intricate everything is. And how well it works so much of the time?

But our bodies do deserve care to function at their utmost. They need regular sleep, a balanced diet, not too much alcohol, lots of exercise, and time to de-stress. If you think that sounds basic, think of how many of these things you haven't done in the last 24 hours. Bodies are patient things and they can take quite a lot. But there comes a point where it's too much, and when the body fights back, you will definitely know all about it.

B Nine (9) things you should worry about

We worry about lots of unnecessary things. Each person has his own favourite worry list. So what are the things that are really worth worrying about and doing something about?

Your pension provisions: Most South Africans do not have enough money on which to retire.

Your children and drugs: Don't ever assume that your kids won't go down this road. Be vigilant.

Your home security: This is the one place in which you should feel safe.

Life insurance: If you have dependants, you really do need this.

Your health: Good health is the one thing money can't buy.

Your spending habits: Constant slight overspending can get you into huge trouble.

Medical insurance: Even if it is just a hospital plan, you need to get one.

Your marriage: All marriages – even good ones – need to be worked on.

Your job security: Never assume you'll have the same job for decades. Those days are over.

4.1 Essay

You are expected to be able to write an essay of ±250 – 300 words.

Any essay you write must consist of an introduction, a body and a conclusion.

Five to seven well-structured paragraphs consisting of a MAIN idea and SUPPORTING detail ensures a well-written essay. A paragraph should be between 5 – 7 lines long

Introduction
Body
Conclusion

You are usually given topics or a picture to write about. If you decide to write about the picture study it closely as you have to use what you see in the picture as well as adding your interpretation to make up an essay.

Hints for writing an essay:

Identify the experience/topic that you want to write about and which you feel comfortable with. (If you know your English is not that good, always choose a topic on which you can tell a story)

- Each paragraph has a main idea and then you add the supporting detail
- Think about why the experience/topic is significant or important
- Spend some time drafting your recollections about the details of the experience/what you know about the topic.
- Remember to stick to the topic – after every paragraph reconsider if you are still busy with the SAME topic
- Create an outline of the basic parts of your essay.
- Make sure your essay has a good beginning and a conclusion.
- DO NOT use sms language.
- Always write “I” as a capital letter – never “i”

Don't
Forget!

Types of essays

4.1.1 Narrative essay

A narrative essay is a piece of writing that tells a story. It is usually based on own experience or those of other people.

This type of essay is written in the past tense and must have a strong storyline. (This is the best choice for the final examination) Remember to capture the reader's attention until the end.

4.1.2 Descriptive essay

A descriptive essay is just what it says: You describe something to someone else.

When you choose a descriptive essay, you have to focus on the five senses: Sight/sound/smell/touch/taste so that your readers experience what you felt. By focusing on the senses you give clear and specific details that show your readers rather than tell your readers what you are describing. (By using descriptive adjectives and adverbs)

Don't
Forget!

4.1.3 Expository essay

When you present the view of another person or write a report on a situation, it is called expository writing. By analysing the topic, you present a detailed objective description of the theme.

4.1.4 Argumentative essay

When you choose a topic, you should think twice before choosing an argumentative topic no matter how strongly you might feel about it. Say for instance you choose abortion. Whether you are for or against the topic, usually after the first rash statement, you do not know what to say further. Avoid writing about such topics because they are impossible to "win".

4.1.5 Discursive essay

When writing a discursive essay the writer attempts to represent both sides, while explaining why he prefers one side above the other.

4.1.6 Reflective essay

Writing a reflective essay means you have to explain your own ideas on the chosen topic in a pensive or introspective manner. However, you should not use slang or too personal thoughts in your work. You should reflect on the issue giving evidence of what you saw or experienced.

EXERCISE 21 – Essay

Write an essay of ±250 – 300 words on one of the following topics:

- * My first day in high school
- * Why I do not like weddings
- * The most embarrassing experience of my life

[50]

4.2 Longer Transactional Text

You are expected to be able to write a longer piece of transactional writing of ±120 – 150 words.

Important points to remember when doing transactional writing:

Don't
Forget!

- Each piece of writing has a different FORMAT e.g. the Friendly letter differs from the Formal letter. Remember that marks are given when you write in the correct FORMAT.
- Each piece of writing has a different TONE (mood), REGISTER (type of language used) and STYLE: The language you use and the tone you write in, e.g. When you write to a teacher it will differ from when you write to your friend.

4.2.1 Official Letter/ Formal letters:

- Letters of complaint, to the editor of a newspaper, application, etc.
- Important HOW you write and to use more formal language and tone.
- Letter should be clear and straightforward, to the point, convincing and logical. Courteous, but not too friendly,.
- Heading: Your address and date
- The address of recipient on the left hand side
- The letter is addressed to the person within the company who will be dealing with the matter. This person's name or title appears immediately above the business address.
- Line open between the address and the greeting: Dear Mr Smith, Sir, Dear Sir/Madam
- The TITLE or SUBJECT line is one-line summary of the letter and written in capital letters. (Never underline)
- Always close a formal letter with: Yours faithfully
- Sign name and then initials and surname written clearly.
- A man never indicates that he is a "Mr". he just writes P MODISE
- A lady has a choice between Mrs (married) Miss(single) or Ms if she does not want people to know if she is married/not married e.g. S Tshabalala (Ms)

4.2.2 Friendly letter

- Remember: Your own address (top right) and the date.
- NO punctuation (except at the end of a sentence) and NO abbreviations
- Greeting: Dear Siphos / Dearest Dad
- Closing: Yours sincerely/Yours affectionately/Kindest regards/Love
- DO NOT: Start your letter with “I am writing this letter to you

I am fine” or “I just want to tell you that ...”

This is an easy option to choose for the final examination. Make sure you know how to write this kind of letter.

EXERCISE 24 – Internal memorandum

You are the captain of the first cricket/netball team. Compile a memo to all the players in your team reminding them of a special practice session before the big match against your rival school on Saturday. [30]

4.2.4 Writing a short article

It is reasonably easy to write a short article and many people nowadays earn a decent living by writing short articles for Internet sites. Choose a topic that you are familiar with. If you choose a topic that you do not know much about it, you will not be able to write an article that the reader would believe or trust.

Once you have your topic, think about the most important facts about that topic. Think about how your information can be useful or helpful to readers. Think about everything you know about that topic. This will help you to give attention to on what is applicable or not.

An article can start with an introduction which will cover the first paragraph. You can put your article body content in a second paragraph. A third paragraph can be the conclusion. You can close your article with an important viewpoint about the topic or even your personal view.

Example of a short article

PROTEAS ON THE RIGHT TRACK

The Proteas are fighting fit for the ODI World Cup due to start in India on 19 February 2011.

In the opening match the Proteas will face England. Jacques Kallis will return after recovering from an ankle injury and his experience will bring a significant change to the team.

The South African team is well-balanced and comprise a good selection of fast and spin bowlers. The batting order stretches to number 8 which will ensure a very relaxed atmosphere among the opening batsmen.

Graham Smith will captain the ODI team for the last time during this World Cup

EXERCISE 25 – Short article

Write a short article for your monthly school magazine/newsletter on sport and recreation at your school. [30]

4.2.6 Speech

The more you speak in public, the more you get used to speaking and the easier it becomes. Painful as it may seem, you should grab every opportunity to speak.

Words are naturally the main part of any speaker's plan, but the voice and the gestures you use are equally important. You may keep small notes but you must never READ a speech.

Any speech consists of three parts: Introduction, body, closing. You have to start by planning your speech. Ask yourself some questions: What is the environment in which you will be making your speech? What is the event, the age/interests etc. and size of the audience, the venue and time of day? Are there any audiovisual aids available? Do I want to inform/entertain/convince the audience?

Research - Clearly understand your subject by finding out as much as you can about it.

Introduction
Body
Conclusion

Concentrate on the structure of your speech. It should be informative and entertaining or challenging. Organise your key points. Try not to use more than three main points as more than this may lead to confusion and loss of interest by your audience. Remember, your speech must have a clear introduction, a body and a conclusion containing the message you want to leave with the audience. Make the opening statement as well as your closing stimulating, interesting and to the point.

Use clear, short sentences without complicated words or jargon and consider appropriate use of humour, creating tension, gestures and the effective use of silence.

EXERCISE 28

You are the SRC Chairperson of your school. Compile a farewell speech for the last gathering at the end of 2011. [30]

4.2.7 Dialogue

How do you write good dialogue? Listen to how people speak and try to write down some conversations. What you'll find is that people usually don't speak in long, sentences. More often, conversations consist of incomplete sentences, clichés, stringy descriptions, sudden shifts of thought, and even non-words, e.g., "Uh ..."

Every time there is a change in speakers, you need to begin a new paragraph; this applies even if it's just two people talking back and forth.

WHEN WRITING A DIALOGUE, KEEP THE FOLLOWING IN MIND:

- Always write in the first person.
- Decide whether the register will be formal or informal. – This will depend upon the topic
- Leave one line open after every speaker.
- Punctuation is very important!
- Your choice of words must clearly portray the tone and feeling of the speakers.
- Always write at least five exchanges - an exchange is a statement/ question and response.

Don't
Forget!

Mrs Masondo and Thabo discuss the arrangements the day before the Matric farewell.

Ms Masondo: Thabo did you arrange for the flowers to be delivered before 2 o' clock tomorrow?

Thabo: Yes Mam, They will be here early. I know you want the hall to be finished by the time the tables are laid. I promise you it will be on time.

Ms Masondo: Are the Gr 11 girls coming to help us?

Thabo: Ms Williams will let them leave her class at twelve so that they can help.

Ms Masondo: Good. Thank you Thabo I see you have everything under control.

EXERCISE 29

Jane and Mary share a hostel room. Write the dialogue between Jane and Mary after Jane found out that Mary wore her blue dress to a party on Saturday evening while Jane went out with her parents. It is torn at the one side seam and Jane saw it immediately. [30]

4.2.8 Interview

An interview resembles a dialogue as it also is a question and answer session.

Hints for attending an interview:

- Beforehand, find out as much of the company as you can
- Be on time
- Dress professionally – No jeans and takkies
- DO NOT chew gum during the interview
- If they do not mention salary ask politely: “May I know what is company policy regarding remuneration?” NEVER: “What will you pay me?”

EXERCISE 30

Prepare for an interview at a local bank and write down what you think would be said during the interview. [30]

4.2.9 Review

A few hints to help you! You must however READ the book first before you try to write a review on it.

- ★ Start by giving the title of the book, name of the author and publisher
- ★ Then discuss the genre, setting, style of writing and atmosphere
- ★ Give an overview of the plot and discuss characterisation
- ★ Only after the overview, discuss the strengths and weaknesses of the book itself and comment on the suitability.

EXERCISE 31

Write a review of one of your literature prescribed books. [30]

4.2.10 Newspaper article

Follow these steps to write a properly structured newspaper article:

1. Decide on a topic then do your research. You must be very knowledgeable on the specific topic before writing about it.
2. Choose a catchy title which will grab the attention of the reader. Titles should be short, simple, and relate to what the article is about.
3. In the first paragraph of your newspaper article, you should answer the five Ws. Who? When? What? Where? Why? The explanations should be short and quick without too much detail. The in-depth details will come in later paragraphs.

4. The body paragraph(s) of your newspaper article should have more detail about the five Ws. If you have any quotes, you should include them now. In the body paragraph(s), you need to tell the story.
5. Write a conclusion/ending paragraph. This should sum up the article and add any extra thoughts or suggestions. Many people like to end their articles with a quote or catchy statement.

Tips:

Use good grammar and always write about topics of which you are interested in. Proofread your articles and don't rely solely on automated spellchecker. (See 3.3.11) Acknowledge any sources which you use to formulate your article.

EXERCISE 32

Write a newspaper article of your choice. (A sports event/ an accident)

[30]4.2.11 Magazine article

Page through magazines and see what the articles look like. Try to form an idea what makes it different from a newspaper article

- Research your article but you don't have to know everything about the topic
- Choose an interesting heading
- It should have illustrations or pictures
- It can be descriptive – telling about real life – or it can be figurative- using your imagination
- Write your article. Then rewrite it. Make it the best article you can.

EXERCISE 33

Write a magazine article on the latest make-up/clothing/sportswear trends.

[30]4.2.12 Newspaper column

Short articles are normally 500 words or fewer; columns are 1200 words or fewer. This is an average, but specific lengths will vary from paper to paper.

Define your own angle. Articles without slant can be boring & readers might wonder why they are taking the time to read what you wrote.

Provide a solution, don't just raise an issue. Have the conviction to suggest a solution. Criticising certain issues but offering no solutions is pointless. Readers read columns because they want to gain insight and answers. If you don't provide those, you failed as a columnist.

Hints

- Begin with a hit. The best way to draw a reader in when you write a newspaper column is to knock them out from the start. You will want to put your most powerful sentence at the beginning.
- Summarise up front. Put the most important information in the beginning, and then leave the lesser information for the end.

- ☒ Be opinionated. Some pages are full of editorials and cultural critiques that bring your voice and opinion out. Keep them short, between 250 and 400 words, and give some facts to support your view.

EXERCISE 34

Write a newspaper column for the editorial section on medical aids.

[30]4.2.13 Curriculum Vitae

A Curriculum vitae (CV) is always accompanied by a covering letter

EXERCISE 35 [30]
 Compile your own CV (Include your covering letter.)

4.2.14 Obituary

When someone passes away (dies) an obituary is placed in the newspaper informing people thereof and supplies information regarding the reason for passing away as well as funeral arrangements.

James Lerefolo –
 15 June 1963 – 6 February 2011
 Suddenly passed away on Sunday, 6 February 2011. Will sadly be missed by Lerato and children. Funeral service on Tuesday, 8 February 2011 at 14:00 in the RC Church in Chris Hani Avenue.

EXERCISE 36

Read through the obituaries in any newspaper and then write an obituary of some well-known person that passed away. [30]

4.2.15 Brochure

Products, services, courses and holiday venues are usually advertised in a brochure. It usually is an A4 page which is folded in half or even a triple fold. Depending on what it is used for, it will contain text, pictures and sometimes maps. It is usually colourful and should attract attention.

E.g.

Tau Guesthouse 	Situated in the bush, you will experience the tranquillity of a game park. Ten fully serviced chalets: R450 p.p.	 Contact us: 011 802 1534 or 084 234 5678
---	--	--

This is just an example!
You need to give more information.

EXERCISE 37

Compile a brochure for an Art exhibition to be held at your school. Remember to supply ALL the information a visitor should need e.g. day, date, time/ period, place, entry fee etc. Also supply short descriptions about artists.

4.2.16 Editorial

Choose a relevant topic. The topic of an editorial should normally be about a current news story or event. It should be something with a broad appeal to the readership. You can get writing ideas by brainstorming with friends and family.

Use personal opinion. The main difference between an editorial and a news story is that there is room to try to persuade readers with your personal opinion. This should be done in a rational manner. Use your opinion to guide interpretation of the story.

Use emotion sparingly. Strong, reactive emotion will turn off readers, while a more personal and subdued emotional theme will draw readers in.

Use persuasive language. Persuasive writing is one of the key elements of a good editorial. Using clear, active language is very persuasive. Get to the point.

Get your facts straight. If you are writing negative opinions about people or businesses, be sure to begin by stating that it is your opinion. Opinions can be neither proved nor disproved, and will not be taken as libel unless there is an obvious component of malice to them. Never name call.

Try to be entertaining. If you keep all of the above steps of clarity, relevance and fact-checking in mind, you may still write in an entertaining manner. Readers usually expect to get more out of an editorial than simple facts, so don't disappoint. Always one of the best writing tips for opinion editorials is to use humour to illustrate your points when appropriate.

EXERCISE 38

Write an editorial for your local newspaper on the state of the roads in South Africa [30]

4.3 Shorter Transactional Texts

4.3.1 Invitation

The Invitation:

Include ALL information given in question. Remember to mention: date, time, dress (casual or formal) and a number where to call to RSVP accept/decline the invitation.

EXERCISE 39

Compile an invitation to your birthday party. [20]

4.3.2 Diary entry

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A diary entry tells of what happened during a specific day. Remember to give the day and date • Write in the first person = "I" • Use present and past tense • Describe what you see, feel, hear, experience and think - Share your emotions • Start with Dear Diary... • Do not use slang or colloquial language as you will be penalised in the final exam. 	Sunday, 13 February 2011
	Dear diary. I honestly hope he sees me tomorrow. We may wear plain clothes and I really look well in red!! I am so in love with him!! (I bought him a "Be my Valentine" card and Mpho will deliver it.)
	Monday, 14 February 2011
	My dearest Diary. What a wonderful day!! I am over the moon. He thanked me for the card!!! He couldn't keep his eyes off me...and he asked me to the movies on Friday. Bye, bye Diary. You must dream sweet dreams tonight!

EXERCISE 40

Complete diary entries for three days while you are on holiday. [20]

4.3.3 Postcard

Remember when writing a postcard you have limited space so it is acceptable to use abbreviated sentences. The style is casual and informal.

STAMP	Monday Dear Mom & Dad France is a wonderful country. Went to the Louvre and Eiffel Tower today. Windsor castle tomorrow. I enjoy every moment. Next week in Italy – can't wait for all the pizza
Mr & Ms H Viljoen PO Box 167 KLERKSDORP 2570	Please send some more money. Love you. Dihan

EXERCISE 41

Write a postcard to a friend who is at home while you are attending a bush camp for school leavers. [20]

4.3.4 Directions

All of us have to give directions to another person at some stage. Include landmarks as you explain as it makes the explanation more understandable.

Remember the following words or phrases:

- ◆ Opposite/ next to/ behind/ across the road/ turn left or right at the robot/ cross two robots/ go halfway round the circle/ go past/ turn right into Mandela Drive/ at the intersection/ at the four-way stop etc.

EXERCISE 42

Your principal wants to visit your parents. Write down the directions to your home from your school. [20]

4.3.5 Instructions

When you explain to someone how something is done, you are actually instructing him how to do it.

E.g. How to make coffee: You boil water in the kettle. While you are waiting for the water to boil, you put a teaspoon of coffee powder in a mug. Add some sugar and then the boiling water. Add some milk and stir well to dissolve the sugar. Drink and enjoy!

EXERCISE 43

Give someone instructions on how to bake a cake/ change a flat tyre. [20]

4.3.6 Advertisement

When compiling any advertising material the AIDA principle should be taken into consideration.

A = grab the attention of the reader

I = it should generate interest

D = this should lead to desire to get what is advertised

A = which then should lead to the action of actually buying/doing what is advertised

Things to keep in mind when advertisements are planned/ compiled/ designed:

When and where it will be advertised; who is the target audience; choice of colours; font; layout; language used as well as the feelings/attitude it portrays

Although there are different types of advertisements, for examination purposes we concentrate on the DISPLAY advertisement:

SALON CHIC

Well-known stylists: Elliné & Karisa

Awarded best Salon in Gauteng 2010	Colour Highlights Cut Blow-dry Perm
--	---	---

2 Hyperion Road, North riding, Randburg

EXERCISE 44

Compile an advertisement in which you advertise the Art Exhibition to be held in your school hall of all the Gr 12 Art learners of your school. [20]

4.3.7 Flyer

A flyer is a small advertisement usually distributed at street crossings or put into your mailbox. It usually supplies brief information on an event to be held or a service advertised.

EXERCISE 45

Design a flyer in which you advertise your services as a house-sitter when people go on holiday. You water plants, feed cats and dogs and you even sleep over if needed. [20]

4.3.8 Poster

Posters are usually much bigger forms of advertising like A3 posters on street poles. They advertise from newspaper headlines to concerts, public meetings and Nursery school enrolments as well as Open Days at high schools and many more. Remember all the design principles as discussed in 3.6 apply when doing a poster.

Matric farewell
