- BPolSci International Studies

The Bachelor of Political Science International Studies programme focuses on international events, how international relations develop, and events in international politics. It also contributes to students' education as citizens of the country and the world.

In a globalising world, international political relations include interstate or government interactions, international organisations and non-state actors.

They include political and military matters and non-political affairs with international implications. International studies include peace, security, development and justice. This programme establishes an understanding of international relations and develops the skills you will need to analyse and explain world politics at a national, regional and global level.

It is based on the political sciences and related disciplines. International relations is the major subject and has to be taken up to the final year. People differ in their understanding of international relations, and the discipline of international studies acknowledges this diversity.

If you are interested in world affairs and relations between and among states and different actors, then you are an ideal candidate for this programme.

To excel in this programme you should be a:

- committed global citizen;
- interested in the world around you; and
- want to improve relations between states.

Successful students refine their research, communication and data analysis skills and are widely sought after in the private and public sectors.
